

Conservation Leadership Programme in 2010 - Video

Since 1985 the Conservation Leadership Programme (CLP) has been supporting teams of young conservationists to conduct innovative projects focusing on some of the world's most endangered species and habitats. To celebrate 25 years of building conservation capacity, a short film was put together which features case studies of projects in Brazil, Cambodia and Kenya. The film follows the personal stories of three remarkable leaders who have received ongoing support from the CLP over a number of years in terms of grants, training and connection with international conservation experts. They are amongst the many exceptional CLP award-winners who have achieved outstanding successes and developed careers in conservation.
