

Privacy

Title

Your choice

The use of the BirdLife International website does not require you to disclose personal information unless you choose to give it for a specific purpose, such as news subscription or requesting further information regarding membership enrolment. At all points where personal information is required, a statement will appear explaining how this information will be used.

If you do not want your information to be used in any of the ways listed you may opt-out by ticking the box provided.

This website does not directly offers any donation or purchasing facilities. These are provided by third party websites on our behalf, which are covered by their own privacy and security policies.

Data protection

When your name and address are requested, unless otherwise specified, BirdLife International would like to hold details about you to potentially send you further information about our work. BirdLife International may contact you about our fundraising and campaign work.

Children's Privacy

We do not knowingly collect personal data from children. We take specific steps to protect the privacy of children by making reasonable efforts to ensure that a parent has authorised the collection of the child's personal data. We do not provide information about our personal data practices in relation to children on our home page, or at those sites on our Web site where we collect personal data.

Choice/opt-out

This site provides users with the opportunity to opt-out of receiving communications from us at the point where we request information. This site gives users the following option for removing their information from our database should they wish to not receive any future communications :

Write to the following address :

BirdLife International
The David Attenborough Building

Pembroke Street
Cambridge
CB2 3QZ

birdlife@birdlife.org